Random Movie Generator Instructions

The code starts by asking the user to enter the genre of movie they would like to watch from the list of genre options - Action, Horror, Animated, Romantic Comedy, and International.

The user will then input a genre of their liking such as Action and the code will randomly generate a movie that is from the Action genre.

After a movie is generated, the code will ask if the user wants to go again and they can enter Yes or No.

- If the user enters No, the message "Thank you for using this Movie Generator :)" will appear, signaling the end to the code.
- If the user enters Yes at this stage, the code will ask if the user wants to generate from the same genre and the user will enter Yes or No
    - If the user enters No, the code will ask what genre the user would now like to choose from for which the user can enter a genre from the list of genres
    - If the user enters Yes, the code will generate another movie from the same genre and can guarantee that the movie skipped will not be generated again.
        - Afterwards, It will repeat the question if the user wants to go again and the user can enter Yes and generate from the same genre or enter another genre or enter No and end the code.
